

Emergency Services Manual Summary

This manual gives you a piece of mind. It helps the care staff to know what to do in case of an emergency. It includes procedures for missing residents, falls, injuries, seizures, what to do in case of a heart attack, violent resident procedures, death procedures and basic emergency care and disaster plans, including fire drills. The use of this manual creates a safer living environment.

Facility owners are required to make sure their care staff knows what to do in cases of emergencies. This manual was designed as a training tool, so that the care staff left in charge can properly handle basic emergencies. It is easy to use, and also includes a test, so that the training can be documented, which will result in the residents getting better care and the facility reducing its liability risk.

Special Note

We cover what caregivers typically need to do in case of typical types of emergencies, (most expected emergencies) which could arise in a care facility. Besides the important First-Aid policies, procedures, vital sign and assessment training, we cover death, violent residents, advance directives, legal issues, and personal safety and offer many useful links.

Check State Laws and Regulations, Not one size fits all.

This Manual is a basic, yet, comprehensive starting place. This product is not a one size fits all; rather a one size fits most. We cannot provide a manual that will meet the needs of every individual resident out there living in a care facility. It is the duty of the care giver(s) to find out needs and follow standard training and quality care and service procedures needed for their specific residents/clients.

We do base our standards slightly higher than most states regulatory requirements; however, it is the duty of the user to become familiar with their state laws and regulations. www.ProvidersWeb.com has free access to all the state links & regulations care facilities commonly need, and Basic Membership is Free. Be sure to read and utilize your state laws and regulations.
